

Master II (2021-2022)

Option: DIDACTICS

Subject: ESP

The question:

Dudley and Johns (1998) hold that teaching language for specific purposes (LSP) can be traced as far back as the Greek and Roman empires. However, Hutchinson and Waters (1987) maintain that “ESP is not a monolithic universal phenomenon” (p.9). This phenomenon developed at different speeds in different countries.

Based on what has been developed in the course of this subject, discuss the main reasons that led to the emergence of English Legal Language, English Language of Journalism, and English for Science and Technology (EST). (Mention their main characteristics too.)
